

An initiative of Centre for Responsible Business (CRB) for Sustainability Standards organisations operating in India to be better informed about each others' features and initiatives, and explore opportunities to Collaborate

Walking Together with Voluntary Sustainability Standards (VSS) in India

Brief Report
Inaugural Meeting
17 Jan 2019, CRB, Delhi

1. Background

Centre for Responsible Business (CRB) kicked-off an initiative through a meeting on 17th January 2019 in Delhi, to start a process of dialogue involving Voluntary Sustainability Standards operating in India. From CRB's engagement and interactions with Sustainability Standards organisations and various experts and actors, the need for collaboration among sustainability standards had been raised as an imperative.

However, there has been little discussion and actual actions on this issue in India. Together with VSS organisations and initiatives, CRB would contribute to this need through this initiative. To start with, it would involve quarterly physical meetings between sustainability standards organisations working in India, and identifying actions/activities which can enable better understanding among the Sustainability Standards of each other's features and initiatives. It would also enable sharing lessons, good practices, policy pointers and identifying common issues of interest for joint interventions.

Given that a number of Sustainability Standards are operating in India, CRB believes, our country can take a lead in demonstrating ways for achieving greater engagement and collaboration between VSS. This would help address some of the challenges encountered in the Indian market (both individual and common), highlight policy issues and leverage opportunities to pursue sustainable business and SDGs.

This report has been prepared based on the discussions at this inaugural meeting, and is organized into the following sections: (i) expectations from the initiative, (ii) overview of priority areas (iii) issues of common interest and (iv) agreed actions.

2. Expectations from the Initiative

Based on the inputs from the participants, the following broad expectations emerged:

- Better awareness and understanding about the salient features, domains, experiences and achievements of various existing Sustainability Standards operational in India
- Discussions about possible ways to collaborate between Sustainability Standards in India

3. Priorities for 2019

The organisations which were present in the meeting shared their top three priorities for 2019, which have been enumerated here below in the table¹:

4. Areas of Common Interest

Based on the discussions, the following areas/subjects of common interest emerged from the discussions:

- Sharing information about various Sustainability Standards among themselves
- Uptake of Sustainability Standards among SMEs (expansion and achieving scale)
- Supporting Private Sector companies (buyers) on Supply Chain Transparency and Sustainability
- Engagement on Policy issues with relevant organs of the government
- Certification of Domestic Industry
- Mindset change and engagement with decision makers (business and government)

5. Actions to be taken (by CRB)

- Create an Email Group adding emails of representatives of all the organisations who were invited and participated in this meeting, to enable sharing of information among the Sustainability Standards.
- CRB will create a 2-page template which each Organisation would fill-up with information about the Standards. Once all the information is received – this would be collated into a Dossier and shared with all the Organisations using this Email Group
- CRB would also do a poll of dates to finalise the dates of the next three meetings in 2019 to be held mid-April, mid-July and mid-Oct.
