

Coalition for Responsible Sugarcane India

VISION

A collaborative multi-stakeholder initiative that aims to embed and promote responsible and sustainable business practices across India's sugar value chain.

MISSION

To provide a collaborative platform to drive systemic change through dialogue and evidence-based actions. The coalition aims to pilot and scale innovative measures in the interface of business and human rights, including gender and other sustainability issues.

The coalition was launched on July 30, 2024, with members from across the stakeholder spectrum, to help address systemic issues that confront the sugarcane supply chain

Piloting & Scaling on-the-ground, target-driven interventions to address sustainability challenges and human rights risks to promote sustainable agriculture

Building stakeholder capacity on issues of importance, to the sugarcane sector, such as sustainability challenges, human rights due diligence and climate resilience

Developing tools and frameworks that can help to embed responsible business conduct throughout the sugarcane value chain

Sharing industry good practices on responsible business conduct and creating opportunities for peer-to-peer learning

Contributing learnings and good practices to help guide the responsible business agenda for the sugarcane sector
